

AMERICAN ARMY "STANDING PAT"

Allies Have Decided to Enforce Customs Penalties on the Germans

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The American army of occupation is "standing pat" on the Rhine, Secretary of War Weeks stated today, when his attention was called to dispatches from Paris stating that the allies have decided to enforce customs penalties on the Germans in the zone occupied by the American troops.

Secretary Weeks indicated that this government has decided against any move in connection with the American army of occupation in order to evade embarrassment to the allies.

FRENCH MILITARY HEADQUARTERS, NUSS, March 10.—The French are extending their new zone of military occupation northward and further into the Ruhr district. A detachment from the French army of occupation in Duisburg occupied Hamborn on Wednesday. Hamborn is four miles north of Duisburg. The movement was carried out without incident.

Hamborn is the seat of many factories and a large coal trade. The German workmen have continued at their labors without any movement toward hostile manifestations or a strike.

A French commandant at Dusseldorf is allowing the Germans 400 "green" policemen for service at that place. The Germans had asked for 600.

CAMPFIRE OF POST AND CORPS

N. P. Banks Post and Corps will have an all-day entertainment on March 12 at G. A. R. Hall, Glendale. Bring your lunch and come early for the forenoon program, conducted by C. R. Norton, chaplain of the post. After lunch, which will be self-served, upon the G. A. R. tables (free coffee will be served by the W. R. C.), there will be given an actual reproduction of scenes in soldier life of the war of '61-65, by the old boys who went over the top in those historical days, assisted by a good bugler and sisters of the W. R. C. The Pasadena Glee Club will do its part to render a grand entertainment, extending from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

TWELVE ASK CURE FOR STAMMERING

Much interest is being manifested in the class for the correction in stammering which is to be formed here by Prof. O. H. Ennis, who gave an address under P. T. A. auspices at the Intermediate school at 3:15 this afternoon.

Already a class of 12 has been organized, and there are others who will join as soon as the instructions begin. The P. T. A. Federation will use part of its scholarship fund to help defray the expenses of the class. The committee engaged to investigate the affair report that the class is needed here, and that Professor Ennis' work is valuable to those afflicted with stammering.

QUILTING BEE FOR MARGARET LUSBY

Mrs. C. R. Lusby and her mother, Mrs. H. A. Wilson, entertained with a four-course luncheon and quilting party at the home of Mrs. Wilson in Pasadena for Miss Margaret Lusby last Saturday afternoon. A silver basket centered the luncheon table filled with pink sweet peas. The place cards represented a bridal party, the bride marking Miss Lusby's place. During the afternoon two handsome comforts were tied by the company and presented by the hostess to the guest of honor. All the ladies present were relatives of the bride-to-be, the guests list including Mrs. E. U. Emery, Miss Wauwata Emery, Mrs. R. A. Salisbury, Miss Maud Salisbury, Mrs. Frank Parsons, Mrs. Harold Salisbury, Mrs. R. W. Lusby of San Fernando, Mrs. J. R. Lusby of Pasadena, the hostess and the guest of honor.

RED-LETTER DAY FOR DR. DUNCAN

Fortieth Anniversary of Entrance Into Professional Life Celebrated

Last evening a number of members of the Glendale Physicians' club met at their regular semi-monthly meeting at the home of Dr. A. M. Duncan, 1607 San Fernando road. This meeting was of an unusual character and the scientific program to which the members were accustomed was modified to a semi-social occasion because the day was the fortieth anniversary of Dr. Duncan's entry into the profession of medicine.

Doctor Duncan pleased his audience with some interesting reminiscences in regard to his student days in Columbus, O., and in New York City, and some of his early experiences in practice. He brought an interesting case to be shown to the physicians, of a little boy whose finger had been virtually cut off and which, fortunately, had been made to grow on again with hardly any remaining trace of the seriousness of the wound.

Doctor Duncan was followed by Dr. D. W. Hunt, who is a practitioner in Glendale and who has been in the practice of medicine for just 50 years, 35 of which have been spent in Los Angeles county.

These reminiscent talks were followed by a discussion which was concluded by a collation served by Miss Duncan.

LUNCHEON FOR CLUB WOMEN

Mrs. W. L. Andrews Entertains Members of Parliamentary Law Section

One of the pretty social functions of the week was a luncheon given on Wednesday by Mrs. W. L. Andrews of 452 Pioneer drive to members of the parliamentary law section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, and ladies outside the section who are to help with the program to be given before the club on Reciprocity Day. Following the luncheon there was a rehearsal of the play which promises to be such a clever feature of the program mentioned. The ladies present were:

Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, president of the club; Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, curator of the parliamentary law section; Mrs. Helen Graham Cole, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. C. A. Parker, Mrs. L. A. Hagood, Mrs. Homer Lockwood, Mrs. Walter Jones, Miss Helen Esterly, Mrs. Bert Ward, Mrs. W. H. Verity, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. J. T. Crampton, Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, Mrs. Charles Freese, who is the house guest of Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. Benjamin Holbrook and the hostess, Mrs. Andrews.

PICTURE SCENES TAKEN IN GLENDALE

Glendale theater offers an unusually good program this evening. "Other Men's Shoes," with Crawford Kent playing a dual role, is the feature picture. Then there is the Pathe News and a Century animal comedy, "Tales Win."

Besides these, Manager Howe has secured "Jolly Jottings From Judge," volume 1, number 1, produced by the Grant E. Hamilton Film Company, with James W. Horne as production manager. This picture will be seen for the first time on any screen at the first show at the Glendale theater tonight. It is said to be "a scream," and it has added interest to theater-goers of this city from the fact that the scenes were taken in Glendale.

LIGHTS OUT IN CITY FOR FORTY MINUTES

For the benefit of Glendaleans who are curious to know why the electric lights all over the city went out about midnight, the public service department was questioned. According to the information forthcoming, the Edison line went out and was not restored for about 40 minutes. During that interval candles and kerosene lamps were resuscitated by the night hawks whose business or pleasure was interrupted.

CHAPTER L HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

Silver Spoons Are Bestowed Upon Miss Lusby as Bridal Gift

Of unusual interest was the all-day session of Chapter L, P. E. O., which took place Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. Arthur C. Brown at 201 West Milford street. The program for the day included the annual election and installation of officers, the mid-day luncheon, and the special pleasure of honoring Miss Margaret Lusby, soon to become the bride of Harold Latter, and an absent member of the chapter. Floral decorations were especially pretty. A large basket in the living room was filled with spring flowers, blossoms, and the luncheon table was centered with a similar basket, in which freesias predominated, and also embellished with a handsome bride's cake beautifully frosted in pink and white, which was cut by Miss Lusby.

The morning session was devoted to business, chiefly the election which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. May Lee; vice president, Mrs. Fern Roberts; recording secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Read; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lida Border; treasurer, Mrs. C. H. Bout; chaplain, Mrs. A. M. Hunt; guard, Mrs. Ann P. Bartlett.

As a bridal gift to Miss Lusby, the chapter had delegated Miss Ruth Byram to purchase half a dozen silver spoons of the Lady Mary pattern. After the business of the morning was concluded the gift, daintily wrapped with tissue and ribbon and lying upon a bed of orange blossoms in a shallow basket, was delivered to Mrs. Roberts, the retiring president, who presented it to Miss Lusby with a felicitous little speech, in which she voiced the respect and love of the chapter. Miss Lusby, though quite overcome, made gracious response and the beautiful spoons were duly inspected.

At the afternoon session the newly elected officers were installed by Mrs. Roberts. A special pleasure was the presence of two members who are no longer residents of Glendale, Mrs. Emma Ferguson, from the northern part of the state, and Mrs. Charlotte Campbell from La Verne.

KENSINGTON CLUB BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Tiny Hammond and Mrs. Susie Peck had charge of the luncheon with which the Kensington club celebrated its seventh birthday at the G. A. R. hall Wednesday, was a huge success. The tables, at which covers were laid for 30, were charmingly decorated with smilax and freesias, and a beautiful birthday cake, on which seven candles were burning.

Following the luncheon was a short business session, over which Mrs. Julia Hayes presided, and at which the annual election took place. As the club, under the able leadership of Mrs. Hayes, has had a most successful year, she was unanimously re-elected, as was also the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Gertrude Tisdale. Mrs. Nina Richards was elected vice president.

Work for the coming year was discussed and a decision was reached to take up the making of comforts for the Children's hospital of Los Angeles.

ASSEMBLYMEN TO VISIT BERKELEY

Members of the assembly are going to Berkeley tomorrow to look the ground over and investigate needs at the state university, in order that they may be able to vote intelligently on the bill for appropriations, according to word received by Mrs. White, wife of Assemblyman John Robert White.

FOUR BROOKLYN OIL TANKS EXPLODE

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 10.—Fire broke out shortly before noon today in the plant of the Standard Oil Company in the Green Point section of Brooklyn. Four oil tanks have exploded already and others are said to be in danger of catching fire. A fire swept this plant a year ago, causing hundreds of thousands of dollars' damage and lasting several days.

CHURCH OF HOLY FAMILY

Ground Will be Broken Monday Morning—Workmen Busy Staking Off the Grounds

Rev. Father J. S. O'Neill

"WE'VE APOLOGIZED WHAT MORE?"

(By International News Service)
SEATTLE, March 10.—"We're very sorry about the death of Choy Duck Bew, because we have no quarrel with the Hip Sings. We've apologized, so what more can we do?"

This was the complacent comment of an official of the Chinese Hop Sing tong today, on the shooting of Choy last evening. The Hop Sings say Choy was shot "by mistake."

Two Chinese were arrested in Tacoma shortly after the shooting as they stepped from a Seattle bus. They are Jim Yng, 27, and Ching Chong, 37. A large number of Chinese tong men arrived in Seattle a few weeks ago following the outbreak of war between the Hop Sings and Bing Kungs in California. According to some Chinese, Choy was mistaken for a Bing Kung man.

Whether the shooting will open warfare between the Hip Sings and Hop Sings, who have been at peace since 1917, the police are unable to determine today, but extra precautions have been taken against outbreaks.

TO INVESTIGATE RAILWAY SITUATION

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, author of the present railroad law, announced today, after a conference with President Harding at the White House, that the United States Senate will shortly conduct an investigation into the entire railroad situation.

Matters particularly to be inquired into, Senator Cummins said, were whether the roads are being grossly mismanaged, as charged, and whether there is justification for the present high rates.

SPRING FESTIVAL BY FEDERATION

The P. T. A. Federation is deep in arrangements for an elaborate spring festival to be held on the beautiful grounds of the new home of the president, Mrs. John Robert White.

Present plans comprise features that will undoubtedly draw a large attendance and net the federation a goodly sum for its treasury.

The dream of a suitable new house of worship, long cherished and fostered by Reverend Father James Stephen O'Neill, pastor of the Church of the Holy Family, and the members of the parish, is about to be realized.

Architect Albert C. Martin and Contractor McRae have completed their arrangements, and workmen were busy this morning measuring and staking off the ground at the church property at Elk avenue and Louise street, where ground will be broken for the new building on Monday morning. The contract was let to Mr. McRae for $53,000.

The church, the general outlines of which conform to the Spanish renaissance type, will be 40x140 in overall dimensions, with east and west transepts. The construction is of reinforced concrete, brick and plastered exterior, with terra cotta trim. A Spanish bell tower with open arches is one of the attractive features of the exterior.

The main entrance will be on Elk street, but there will be a Louise street entrance also. The seating capacity will approximate 550 with a choir gallery accommodating 50; the sanctuary is 20x25 feet, with a high altar niche. Besides the large vestry for the priests' use, there will be also a smaller one for the altar boys.

Reverend Father O'Neill came to Glendale about 14 years ago, with all the zeal and energy of a young priest, to establish this parish here. He has seen it grow from a very small number to its present membership of over 700, its growth being commensurate with that of Glendale.

Father O'Neill is to be commended for the building of this beautiful church, a fine structure that will be an asset to the city. Through his untiring efforts and capable management as well as through the cooperation he has received from the many loyal and efficient workers in his church, this creditable building has been made possible.

Father O'Neill has always been interested in all that pertains to the development of Glendale, as well as in the growth of his own church. He has many friends in Glendale, of other denominations, and of no church affiliations, who are congratulating him on the fulfillment of his plans in the building of the new church. He is a gentleman whose sterling qualities of mind and heart have won for him the respect and affection of all who know him. Catholics of Glendale may well be proud of their cultured, capable, kindly pastor.

RESTORE 'A REAL CHRISTIAN PEACE'

(By International News Service)
ROME, March 10.—Special mention was made of hostilities in Italy and Ireland in an allocation issued by Pope Benedict XV today, urging all nations to restore "a real Christian peace." After deploring the fighting between political factions in Italy, the pope expressed the belief that the guerrilla fighting in Ireland arose from a national desire on the part of the Irish for freedom. The pontiff said all violence is to be deplored, including the retaliatory measures of the British military authorities in Ireland, which from its nature must be condemned.

The allocation holds in condemnation equally the activities of the Irish patriots and that of the black and tan police.

Will Open to Question Thousands of Divorces

If Divorce Granted Mary Pickford, Famous Motion Picture Star, Were Set Aside It Would Open Thousands of Divorces to Attack

FAMOUS CASE NOW IN THE COURTS OF NEVADA

The Right Claimed by Attorney-General of Nevada to Instituted Proceedings Declared Fictional

MINDEN, Nev., March 10.—For the courts of Nevada to permit the state attorney-general to intervene for the purpose of setting aside the divorce granted to Mary Pickford, famous motion picture star, from Owen E. Moore, also noted as a screen star, would throw open to attack the thousands of divorces that have been granted in Nevada since that state became famous as a center of divorcees, according to the contents of a brief filed here today by counsel for the "sweetheart of America."

The brief—a final one in the preliminary skirmish of the state's endeavor to annul the Pickford divorce, characterized the right claimed by the attorney-general of the state of Nevada to institute the proceedings as nothing more than "fictional" and asks the court to revoke the order of publication in the case, brought by the state, and to squash the summons served by such publication.

The brief charges that the attorney-general in a "sixty-day investigation" has failed "to disclose a single case which might serve as a precedent for the maintenance and prosecution of the case at bar."

The divorce which the state seeks to annul was granted Gladys M. Moore, as the screen star was known in private life, from Owen E. Moore, by presiding judge Frank P. Langan nearly a year ago. At the time she filed the divorce suit the screen star was staying at a nearby ranch. Service was had on Moore when he came into Nevada on a "movie location" excursion. Following the granting of the decree the screen star returned to California and later married Douglas Fairbanks, celebrated movie star. Attorney-general Leonard B. Fowler of the state of Nevada then instituted proceedings to have the decree annulled, alleging collusion and fraud.

"To permit the attorney-general of the state to maintain and prosecute this action is to make it possible for him to make a similar attack upon every judgment heretofore rendered by the courts of the state of Nevada," declared the brief filed today. "A successful litigant would never know when the attorney-general of the state of Nevada might claim fraud of collusion in connection with a decree obtained in his own action for divorce. It should be obvious to the court that the security and the dignity of the judgments rendered by the courts of the state of Nevada would immediately become impaired if it were held that such judgments might be subjected to the whimsical and capricious attack of the attorney-general of the state. To recognize such authority or so-called 'elementary power' on the part of the attorney-general in connection with the case of Moore vs. Moore as would warrant the maintenance of the pending action is to immediately render subject to attack thousands of decrees of divorce, if not judgments of other character, rendered by the state of Nevada.

"Many of the persons divorced by these decrees rendered by the courts of the state of Nevada have remarried. Many of these persons have borne children as a result of their subsequent wedlock. Will the courts of the state of Nevada permit an attorney-general to strike at the very foundation of society and the status upon which our society rests—namely, the marriage status, by sanctioning a whimsical and capricious attack, such as he has made upon the decree, in the case of Moore vs. Moore? Why has the attorney-general selected the parties to the action of Moore vs.

UNABLE TO EXPLAIN GENIUS

Scientists of All Ages Have Admitted the Impossibility of Determining Whence It Comes.

Science itself admits that it cannot explain genius, for genius simply is without explanation.

Handel was only seven when he insisted on following his father to the court of Saxe-Weissenfels, whose prince, hearing him play on the organ in church after the service was over, persuaded his father to give the boy a chance. By the time he was nine he began to compose church services for voices and instruments and did so every week for three years.

But Handel was a tremendous gourmandizer. He ordered dinner for three at a hotel, and when asked if he would wait for the others, replied: "I am the others, serve the dinner," and he ate all of it.

A story is told of Handel that while seated at dinner with some other musicians he exclaimed, "Oh, I have de taught!" Those about him begged that he go into another room and write down "de taught," lest they lose some wonderful composition. Handel did this several times, when one of the friends looked through the keyhole and saw him pouring down some Burgundy which an admirer had sent him and he did not wish to share with the others.

When a singer complained to Handel that the style of his accompaniments distracted the attention of the hearers from the singer to the musician and that if he did not accompany him better he would jump up on the harpsichord (the piano of that time) and smash it. Handel replied: "Fine! Tell me when you are going to do that and I shall advertise it, for more people will come to see you jump than to hear you sing."

MAN'S FIRST DWELLING PLACE

Scientists Claim That the Desert of Gobi Must for Natural Reasons Be the Spot.

The desert of Gobi, which is the summit of the central steppe in Asia, is the most elevated region on the globe, and it is here, scientists claim, man first lived, arguing that this point of earth must have been the first to emerge from the universal sea, and that as the subsiding waters gradually gave up lower regions of earth to man he was able to descend and spread himself progressively over new acquisitions.

If it is from this region that the great rivers of Asia also take their rise and flow toward the four cardinal points, On the declivities of these highlands are the plains of Tibet, lower than the frozen regions of Gobi. Here are found not only the vine, the olive, rice, the legumina, and other plants on which man has depended for sustenance, but also those animals which he has tamed and led with him over the earth, as the ox, the horse, the ass, the sheep, the goat, the reindeer, the hog, the dog, and even the reindeer, run wild upon these mountains. On the mountains of Cashuire, in Tibet, and in the north of China, grain has been found to be growing wild for years without ever being sown or tilled, and here also wild animals that have lived there while man has tamed others of the same species, are numerous.—Exchange.

Nature's Unchanging Way.

Outstanding ability is the reward of using the power one has. The best athlete in the world will lose power by hanging around. Resistance is the response of nature to testings. Difficulties are never made easy by giving up. Nature demands that men gain strength by using strength. Turn what you have to account and nature will add to your store with interest. The more you love the larger capacity you have to love. The more you think the keener your thinking ability becomes. The harder and more sanely you work the more you are able to. There's no secret about it. It's just nature's way of saying "to him that hath shall be given." And more than that, if you want anything from nature you must bestir yourself and get it. Nature is not a grudging giver, but she makes men earn all they get.

Only "Load Up" Right.

The tasks you add to your already full program must be related to your life work. The magnet won't hold soap, and froth and wood. Its affinity is with things of steel. So your efforts must be related to your talents and experience if they are to be a help in your growth. One added task above your specialty would be enough to swamp a man who doesn't know your line. To you it's just another added opportunity. To be sure it will require some effort, but nothing in comparison to what it would require in others. You take the load on unconsciously. It's merely another turn or two of the kind you do right along. But in time those few extra daily turns make you a tower of strength. There is no limit to your development when you load up right—Grit.

Too Tame for Him.

"Gibson likes to hear the sound of his own voice."
"That explains his penchant for monologues. But if he loves the sound of his own voice so much why doesn't he talk into a phonograph and have his remarks 'canned' for future use?"
"He wouldn't have the satisfaction of seeing the phonograph writhe andidget."

LOCAL POSTOFFICE NOTES OF INTEREST

Salary of Postmaster for First Year to Be Based on Receipts of Previous Year

A reporter of the Glendale Daily Press interviewed Dr. Henry R. Harrower, who has been actively interested in furthering our postoffice facilities and to whom this city is considerably indebted for any changes for the better we have already attained or have in prospect, and secured from him some interesting statements. The doctor does not have a very good opinion of some of the postoffice methods and has not been backward in criticism. One of the things he mentioned in connection with the interesting news about the establishment of an independent postoffice here concerned the class of postoffice to be established. The official report of the House of Representatives refers specifically to this projected office as "of the second or third class," and while we are looking for a first-class postoffice we hope it will not be technically a "third-class" one. "In any event," said the doctor, "all the employees in the present branch postoffice in Glendale will be demoted and will receive less pay for the same work simply because the United States government does not pay for service rendered but according to a hard and fast schedule. As I understood it, a mailcarrier in a postoffice of the second class receives less for his service than if he were in a first class postoffice."

The doctor feels as do many others, that this is not good business and that a man should be paid for what he does without regard to where he may happen to be when he does it.

From this standpoint the doctor confesses that the prospect of a new postoffice here is not so alluring; for we cannot expect better service from even the same employees if they are going to be reduced in their status of pay. "But," he added, "there seems to be no way out of it if we are to have an independent postoffice, for obviously Glendale has not developed so much postoffice business that it is in the class with Los Angeles, Chicago and real large cities."

The new law indicates that for the first year the salary of the postmaster shall be based on the net receipts of the branch postoffice and stations within the municipality for the previous calendar year.

The doctor is investigating whether many large checks for "permit matter," which represents third-class mail sent out in bulk without stamps, are to be credited to the Glendale office, for these dealings never have been direct with the Los Angeles office. The doctor wrote a letter yesterday asking for this information.

It would also be interesting to know whether all the money paid out by Dr. Harrower for postage, which he says was about $25,000 during 1920, will be figured to the credit of Glendale. Postal cards, for example, were bought in case lots and many of the wholesale orders were not merely received at Los Angeles but some instances were taken from the postoffice dock in the city by Dr. Harrower without even passing through the Glendale office. The doctor has a complete record of these purchases, however.

With commendable foresight, having in view the credit of Glendale, Dr. Harrower has been purchasing the postage for his branch offices here. He estimates that the receipts of the Glendale offices for 1920 will be considerably in excess of $50,000. After the first year the salary of the postmaster will be according to the rate fixed by the law for postmasters of second and third class offices. From the wording of the order we cannot know whether the postoffice will be second or third class, but it is clear that for the first year the postmaster will not be paid any definite sum, but rather upon a percentage basis, and this naturally will be an incentive for everybody doing business in Glendale or likely to buy stamps to buy them in Glendale, just as we believe all good Glendaleans are doing.

RAISE FUND TO PUT CORSETS BACK

(By International News Service)

PARIS, March 10.—A $100,000 campaign fund has been raised by French corset manufacturers in an effort to bring corsets back into favor, it was announced today, by representatives of Farcy and Oppenheim, one of the largest corset manufacturers in France. English and American manufacturers will be asked to contribute on the ground that both England and America derive their fashions from France and that manufacturers in these countries will benefit by the return of the corset to favor.

"We intend to spend part of our fund to demonstrate that the corset is really a sensible woman's help," said the chairman of Farcy and Oppenheim. "At the same time we are negotiating with some of the big Paris dressmakers to induce them to create styles that will make the wearing of corsets indispensable. A number of these have promised support."

Most of the Paris dressmakers believe that the $100,000 will be wasted. "Women are getting away from the corset and will never go back to it—at least, extensively," said M. Peron, who has an establishment on the Rue de la Paix. "Nowadays women want to feel comfortable and how can they with corsets? Furthermore, everyone dances these days. How can a woman fox trot if she is bound up in stays?"

Rev. Father James S. O'Neill, pastor of the Church of the Holy Family, has a brand new Ford coupe to take him on his pastoral rounds and to whirl him away, hither and yon, on the many errands consequent upon the building of the new church which is soon to be started at the corner of Elk avenue and Louise street.

CEMETERY LOTS TO GET BETTER CARE

The management of the Grandview cemetery is sending out notices requesting the owners of all lots purchased prior to November, 1920, to either call at its office or address Box 217, Glendale, regarding the care of their lots. It is not the intention of the company to enforce the care of lots at this time, and no assessments have been levied on owners of lots purchased since November, 1920, for perpetual care. Many improvements are being made in the cemetery, however, which are making it one of the beauty spots of this locality.

MINISTER BELIEVES IN SHORT PRAYERS

(By International News Service)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 10.—The youngest minister in Illinois believes in brevity of prayer. And "it" is a woman.

The Rev. Norma Brown, 21 years old, pastor of the Christian church at Carlock, Ill., recently startled the legislature here by delivering the shortest invocation on record—less than 150 words.

"I always make my invocations brief," explained the girl pastor. And Senator Simon E. Lantz, a member of Miss Brown's congregation, added that she is more energetic in her work among her flock than most male preachers.

Miss Brown is the daughter and granddaughter of clergymen. Her father, the Rev. R. D. Brown, is pastor of the Centennial Christian church, Bloomington, Ill. Her grandfather, the Rev. R. L. Brown, has a church at Wapella, Ill.

The most important item of business was the election, which resulted as follows: C. L. Chandler, president; J. E. Eckles, first vice president; David Black, second vice president; Roy L. Kent, secretary; Herman Nelson, treasurer.

The receipt of a new charter for 1921 was reported by the charter committee.

Troop 1.—An active troop of about 15, including one Eagle and one Star.

Troop 2.—Thirty-two first-class scouts of whom 11 are Eagles, 4 Star Scouts, and 2 Life Scouts.

Troop 3.—A full troop of 32 with 8 or 9 First-class Scouts and 1 Star.

Troop 4.—Approximately 24 active Scouts.

The report submitted on camping activities showed that Camp Glen Akin had been kept open practically throughout the summer; that Troop 2 had conducted a successful camp for eight days on Mount Baldy accommodating 24 scouts; that there had been numerous short hikes by the different troops.

Plans for the year were then discussed, which included a project to form a first-class council with a full-time paid executive. It is believed that Harvey R. Cheeseman, now with the Los Angeles council, may be secured for this position. Should this come to pass, it would be a fine thing for Glendale, as Mr. Cheeseman has had a great deal of experience in scouting.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Kellogg for his unselfish work during the past year, also to A. K. Akin for making possible Camp Glen Akin, and to Benjamin Robison, Sr., and Benjamin Robison, Jr., for their work with the council.

Mr. Kellogg was appointed scout commissioner for the year 1921 and the board adjourned to meet next Tuesday to continue the discussion of plans for the year.

TWO BROTHERS TAKEN IN CUSTODY

(By International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, March 10.—Two brothers, August and John Buselaki, were taken into custody yesterday by police investigating the mysterious killing of Frank C. Hearst, 36, president of the Hearst Store Fixture Company, who was found shot to death sitting at the wheel of his automobile half way within his garage Tuesday night. The police expressed the theory that Hearst may have been killed in mistake for Arthur F. Lapierre, who had occupied the house and garage at Kings Highway Park, which Hearst purchased and moved into a week ago. The auto in which Hearst was killed had also been purchased from Lapierre.

When found Hearst was tightly clutching the steering wheel, with his foot pressing the brake.

CRISSINGER TO BE NEXT COMPTROLLER

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—D. R. Crissinger, banker and lawyer of Marion, Ohio, probably will be the next comptroller of the currency, it was learned authoritatively yesterday. His nomination may go to the Senate this week.

Crissinger and President Harding have been life-long friends. Although originally a Democrat, Crissinger has been a staunch supporter of Harding throughout his political career.

Wrong Sign
A farmer hitched his team to a telephone pole.

WORLD'S FAVORITE AT PALACE GRAND

As was to be expected, Mary Pickford in "The Love Light" drew crowds at both performances yesterday at the Palace Grand Theater. The same excellent program is presented today and tomorrow.

This thrilling emotional drama is laid in Italy and Miss Pickford selected the principal members of her cast while abroad and had them transported to Hollywood, while the other Italian members of the organization were selected in New York and also came to Hollywood especially for this one production.

The cast is one of unusual excellence and every member is especially adapted to the character given him. Miss Pickford was aided in the selection of the cast by her director, Frances Marion, who is also the author of the story.

One reason for the great interest aroused by this production is that it is Miss Pickford's first appearance in an emotional drama following her announced policy of attempting new things and creating new paths in photoplay stories. It will be recalled that some time ago Miss Pickford announced that not only for her own artistic advancement, but also for the advancement of the entire motion picture industry, she would endeavor to get away from the conventional hackneyed stories and attempt to present life as it really is.

The play abounds in excellent comedy situations of the spontaneous order that always mark a Mary Pickford motion picture.

USE BROWN PAPER

When making croquettes or breading cutlets spread a heavy piece of brown paper on the table. When the task is completed the paper may be rolled up and burned. Brown paper should be used also in draining croquettes.

LIBERTY'S FLAG

For Liberty, sweet Liberty, man's grandest gift on earth,
America was truly pledged from the moment of her birth;
So we pledge our allegiance, as we raise Thee to the sky,
And for our country's noble flag, we all would do and die.

Thou are the emblem, bright and free,
Of a nation great and fair,
Where human hearts are welcome, all thy glory thus to share;
For Liberty we all must stand, united near and far,
And Indivisibility spells out each stripe and star.

For Liberty, sweet Liberty, is the rock on which we stand,
Nor will we yield an inch of our gift from God's own hand;
And we, thy sons and daughters, with loyal hearts and true,
Will love our flag forever, our own Red, White and Blue.

RULING AFFECTS VOLSTEAD LAW

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A sweeping decision, which will liberalize interpretations of the Volstead dry law, was made public by Revenue Commissioner Williams today. The decision, which throws into the discard several existing regulations, was the last opinion drawn by A. Mitchell Palmer before retirement as Attorney General.

The ruling holds, among other things, that the government has no power under the prohibition law to limit the quantity of liquors, of whatever kind, manufactured or sold for non-beverage purposes. It was further declared that certain rules proposed to limit the number of permits for the production of such liquors would in effect be an "amendment" to the law itself, and are invalid.

WOMEN HOSTESSES IN THE ARMY

A questionnaire recently sent to commanding generals in the army asked: "Does the presence of women as hostesses in army camps contribute to the military efficiency of the army?" The answers have been, invariably, yes.

JAPAN AND ARMAMENTS

The State Department announces that a resolution introduced independently of party lines before the Diet of Japan should enter into conversation with Great Britain and the United States looking toward limitation of naval armaments, and should also adjust its standing army strength on the basis of the Covenant of the League of Nations, was defeated.

GUARANTY AGAINST DECLINE

The Federal Trade Commission conducted an extensive inquiry concerning the practice of manufacturers in guaranteeing commodities in the hands of wholesalers against decline in price. As a result the Commission will consider each case of complaint separately, basing its decisions on the facts in each instance; instead of attempting to lay down a general policy.

FARMERS LOSE WAR-TIME PRICE GAINS

The Department of Agriculture established by a recent annual investigation that the average price per head, all ages, of cattle other than milk cows was $35.92 in 1917; $4.22 in 1919 and $31.41 in 1921. On January 1, last year, the farm price was $4.51 below that of 1917, some months before this country declared war. Swine on farms declined in the two years 1919 and 1920, 88 per cent of the gain in 1917 and 1918, and two-thirds of the decline was in 1920.

ASSERTS RUSSIA HAS NOTHING TO EXPORT

An American regional economist of the State Department, who was assigned to an investigation of Russia, has told a committee of the Senate that Russia represents "a gigantic economic vacuum, with no prospects of alleviation under the present political and economic conditions." He said that, while trade with Russia is obviously highly desirable for the United States as well as for the rest of the world, "at the present time it cannot be established in any appreciable degree because the industries and consequent purchasing power of the Russian people have collapsed."

GLENDALE DOING HER BIT

Glendale is by no means derelict in helping to lift the burden of starvation, suffering, privation and sorrow, prevailing in Bible Lands across the seas. To her appeals from every quarter have not been made in vain. The starving in Europe and China, in their direful need have touched her heart and her response is generous. But the outstanding interest in all demands made upon her by outside calls for aid, is that of the Near East Relief.

Her part in this national drama of relief now going on, to lift the pall of human misery, began January 16 when "Field Day" for the Near East Relief was generally observed in all the local churches and in some of the other organizations of the city.

The work is still going on with unabated interest throughout the city. The stirring facts set forth in the little blue book, are securing a most remarkable response everywhere through its circulation among our citizens. Booklet after booklet is filled and sent to Headquarters in Los Angeles, bearing its precious assurance to the starving and needy orphans and refugees in Asia Minor, that so far as Glendale can do her bit, they shall not go hungry during this bleak and terrible winter.

Glendale's busy folks in all pursuits of life, have underwritten in sponsorship the lives of more than 150 orphan children. And in this, Headquarters is glad to place this city at the head of the list in such a liberal response of all her Southern California sister towns of equal size, and indeed some much larger.

Any citizen of Glendale, not yet doing his bit for the Near East Relief, is earnestly solicited to phone his response to Glendale 1513-W or call upon Rev. R. W. Mottern, Field Worker, No. 211 North Adams St. For there is still direful need among those people and we are challenged to do our best.

Nowhere else save America can the money, the food and the clothing be found to save them. Europe is in rags and without surplus food. If we refuse, they perish. After having saved the world from tyranny and despair, shall America refuse now to make possible the attainments of the high ideals for which she fought so gloriously? Did we fight for liberty and justice only to allow tyranny, oppression and injustice to triumph in Armenia? Did we win the victory only to surrender the principle for which we fought to Turkey the weakest of our foes? If we did, then surely Turkey will laugh.

This is the great challenge not only to Christian America, but to the Christian Church of America. We cannot raise millions for ourselves to build more beautiful churches, at the same time the victims of the most stupendous martyrdom and tragedy of human history, are perishing of hunger and all sorts of privations in the Near East.

What will become of America if she fails in her manifest duty, to save the little children, the orphans, of Christian and Jewish martyrs, and the half million girls, stolen from Christian and Jewish homes, now imprisoned in Turkish harems?

America will not fail, neither will Glendale in doing her full share in this work of relief, doing the part of the Good Samaritan. And to make this a surety, requires every red-blooded American to fall into line and help the rest of us in this great service.

It was announced in a White House statement dealing with the appointment of Dr. Sawyer, who will also be the White House physician.

TEXAS RANCHER LOSES FORTUNE

Finally Arrests Alleged "Master Mind" of Fake Stock Scheme in Florida

(By International News Service)
FORT WORTH, Texas, March 10.—The man hunt has ended after 14 months of searching through 18 states and Mexico, and J. Frank Norfleet, grim-visaged Texas plainsman, has gone home to Hale Centre, Texas, to rest. Joe Furey, the man he sought and the man who is alleged to have fleeced him out of $45,000 on a fake stock scheme is in jail here. He will go to trial before a jury in Judge George E. Hosey's district court here early this month.

Like a western melodrama run the details of Norfleet's search for Furey, who also is wanted in California, Florida and Washington.

Norfleet was swindled out of his life's fortune on November 10, 1919. Three men, it is alleged, did the job. Then the man hunt started. It was a month later that E. J. Ward and Charles Gerber, two of the alleged swindlers, were arrested in Los Angeles, and, after a fight to prevent extradition, were returned here to stand trial. In turn they both were given the maximum sentence of ten years each.

And while Norfleet conducted his nation-wide search for Joe Furey, Charles Gerber remained in jail here, where he now is awaiting a decision on his appeal to a higher court. E. J. Ward, taken to Washington to stand trial on a charge similar to the one under which he was convicted, committed suicide in the Washington jail in November, 1920.

"It has been 14 months since I lost my money," declares Norfleet. "But as the days went by I still had hope. I grew more determined. The folk back at Hale Centre, where I live, issued a silent and stinging ultimatum that I wouldn't be a welcome neighbor if I didn't 'get' my man. I quit the ranch and became a special deputy. I was given a warrant for Furey's arrest and was told that the governor of Texas would ask for the extradition of Furey from any state in which I captured him.

"I took my son, Pete, out of a normal school to aid me in the chase. My wife managed the ranch, feeding motherless lambs from a bottle and attending to the household duties.

"Pete and I followed Furey's trail from Tia Juana, Mexico, to St. Paul, going through 18 states. We went to Minneapolis, St. Paul, Joliet, Des Moines, Kansas City, Oklahoma City, El Paso, San Antonio, Oklahoma City, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Hot Springs, Birmingham, Atlanta, Mobile, Biloxi and Tampa, finding evidence of Furey's ramifications in all of these cities. We learned that he had visited England and France and knew that he was being chased.

"At Jacksonville, Fla., we landed him and I got extradition papers. When we arrived in Jacksonville I went to the detective bureau. They told me Furey was wanted there and that he's not likely to light. But I kept on. There were eight large hotels there. I knew Furey would be stopping at one of them, for he always had plenty of money. I stationed Pete at one hotel, while I made the rounds of the others. We had arranged to meet each other every 45 minutes. I went to the meeting place and there was Pete.

"I've found him," he said. I went immediately with him to the hotel where he had seen Furey. We trailed Furey into a cafe. As I neared the table where he was seated he raised his head. His eyes met mine. He recognized me. He jumped to his feet and started to run. I pulled my pistol and covered him. I told him I had a warrant for his arrest.

"Furey began screaming. 'Police! Robber! Bandit!' he yelled. People jumped up from their tables. As people surrounded us, Furey started to push his way out. I grabbed him by the collar—it was a death grip. By-standers grabbed me and pulled me across the room, but I clung to Furey. I tried to explain to the crowd, but with Furey yelling my explanations were drowned out. Pete drew his pistol. A policeman rushed in and started to hit him with a club. 'He's our man,' yelled Pete. 'We have a warrant for his arrest.' He held up the warrant and the police then took charge of Furey."

At police headquarters in Jacksonville, according to Norfleet's story, Furey offered to bribe officers in an effort to escape. He denied that he was the man Norfleet had a warrant for.

"How do you know this is the right man?" Norfleet was asked.

"Because I have his picture," Norfleet answered.

And, with extradition papers from the Governor of Texas honored by the Governor of Florida, Norfleet started on the home stretch, eager to end the man hunt and go back to his people. But the man hunt was not over. Furey escaped later. He jumped from a fast-moving train en route from Jacksonville to Fort Worth. Norfleet and his son stopped the train. They hired an automobile, recaptured Furey, who was injured from the fall, and caught the next train out of Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis left London shortly after 2 o'clock. A large crowd of notables gathered at the station to say good-bye. Mrs. Davis shook hands with all of them except Lord Reading, former British ambassador to America, whom she kissed. Lord Reading is on old friend of the Davis family.

SEEKS POLICE PROTECTION FROM PRACTICAL JOKER

(By International News Service)
BOSTON, March 10.—Samuel C. Bauman asked the police of Roxbury to protect him from a practical joker who had for three weeks caused several hundred persons to call at his home looking for positions. Bauman has also received scores of letters and telephone calls from persons who have been similarly misdirected by the unknown joker.

The requests for positions came from persons who had advertised under the "situations wanted" columns of Boston papers.

PLAY THEME PLEASES

Singing of Marie Oliver and Bill
Farner is Exceptionally Good

The initial performance of the greatest and most elaborate production ever staged in Glendale Union High School, "The Chimes of Normandy," was witnessed yesterday afternoon by an audience of over 400 students and outsiders.

Those who attended the performance yesterday afternoon praised highly the musical work and its dramatic appeal.

The first act opens with a scene of the great annual hiring fair, which is celebrated in the village of Corneville, Normandy, for the hiring of servants for the coming year. The servants are gathered around and are discussing various gossip and scandals of the village.

The general topic of the village is Serpolette (Marie Oliver), who enters just in time to overhear the conversation about herself and turns the tables on the others, making their taunts into expressions of rage.

Gaspard (Brigham Bennett), an old and feeble miser, enters and tells of his wishes to marry his niece, Germaine (Dorothy Peart), to the village Bailli (Joe Rhodes). Jean Grenicheux (William Farner), a young fisherman, is not at all pleased with such an arrangement and claims that she owes him a debt of gratitude for once having saved her life. Germaine is not satisfied, as she is in love with neither of them. In order to escape the rage of Gaspard, Germaine signs herself as a servant to the Marquis (Tom McNary). Her example is followed immediately by Grenicheux and Serpolette.

The second act is taken up with the supernatural visitors of the old chateau which has made the castle of Corneville so long an object of dread. Henri, the Marquis, determines to find out the real character of these ghostly visitors and sends his new men out to search the castle. When his men report that it is all the work of the old miser who hoards his money in the rooms, this discovery drives Gaspard crazy, especially when he hears the bells of the chateau ringing for the return of the old Marquis.

The third act is the scene of a grand fete given in honor of the return of Henri to his ancestral home. Serpolette enters as the Marchioness, for some papers which were found in the search of the chateau indicate that she is the lost heiress.

The miser, however, regains his mind and shows that Germaine is the true Marchioness.

A love duet between Germaine and Henri, the reconciliation of all the parties, brings this romantic story to a close.

Misses Marie Oliver as Serpolette, and Dorothy Peart, as Germaine, carry the most important roles. It is certain that no better actresses could be found than these two.

Tom McNary, Joe Rhodes, William Farner and Brigham Bennett furnish the principal male voices and are equally well fitted for their parts. Brigham Bennett, as Gaspard, has an especially hard part which he portrays with a good understanding of his requirements.

The chorus, always an important part of light opera, supported the principals in an excellent manner. Great care has been exercised in the choosing of the costumes and they are very gorgeous and appropriate to the seventeenth century atmosphere. Miss Smith and Miss Rennison prepared the costumes worn by the chorus.

Following the enthusiastic speeches by the opera promoters in the assembly, second period Tuesday, the sale of tickets was greatly increased and it is expected that both the remaining performances tonight and Friday night, will be before a packed house.

THE DOUBLE NEGATIVE

One of the most common mistakes made by users of the English language is the use of the double negative. For instance, it is not correct to say "I don't want nothing," yet even people who should, and probably do know better, use the expression to a great extent, instead of saying "I want nothing" or "I don't want anything."—Kansas City Star.

Logic at Work

Teacher—Thomas, will you tell me what a conjunction is, and compose a sentence containing one?
Thomas—(after reflection)—"A conjunction is a word connecting anything such as 'The horse is hitched to the fence by his halter.' 'Halter' is a conjunction, because it connects the horse and the fence."—Harper's Bazar.

A vogue for crepe taffeta and moire in black and tete de negre is prophesied for summer.

NEW WISHART GARAGE ON BRAND

The foundation is already in for the handsome new garage which the firm of C. A. Wishart & Son is erecting on the west side of South Brand boulevard, near Colorado street.

The building will be a brick structure with handsome white tile front. Its dimensions are 50x200. Sales and display rooms will occupy the front part of it, and the offices are to be located on the mezzanine floor.

The service station in the back of the building will be devoted to the service of Dort and Reo owners; a Westinghouse battery-charging and rebuilding service is another feature to be installed.

The building is to be a one-story structure, but the foundation is of such size and strength that a second story can be added later, if it is needed. Mr. Wishart was a building contractor when he lived "back East" and he is superintending the work of construction himself.

200,000 EMPLOYEES ARE INVOLVED

(By International News Service)

OMAHA, Neb., March 10.—Strike clouds hung low over the conference of representatives of packing house employees throughout the United States as the gathering assembled here today. A labor dispute that may involve 200,000 employees in the packing house industry may result from the two-day conference that opened this morning.

Union leaders made it clear at the outset of the conference that they will insist upon the packers continuing to observe the arbitration agreement under which wage disputes have been adjusted for the past year or more. The packers recently withdrew from this pact, known as the Alschuler agreement. The unions contend that the agreement is legally in effect until one year after the declaration of peace. Withdrawal by the packers, they contend, is a violation of an agreement with the government.

Announcing in Chicago yesterday of wage cuts to be put in effect by the big packers on March 14, gave impetus to strike talk. If any wage reductions are made essential by conditions in the packing industry, the union heads declare the plea of the packers should be heard by the arbitrator named by the administration agreement, or the wage scale adjusted after a conference between the packers and their employees.

GIRLS' TEAM TROUNCES BURBANK HIGH SEXTET

By a score of 13-8, the girls' basketball team of G. U. H. S. won a victory over Burbank High, Friday, March 4. The game was held on the outdoor court at Burbank. Mr. Ferguson acted as referee.

The girls played a consistent game. They worked swiftly and showed their efficiency and splendid teamwork by speedy and accurate passes.

It was an exciting 40 minutes. At the end of the first 10 minutes, Glendale led by a score of 7-1. When the whistle was blown for the second third, the score was 13-2, still in favor of the visiting team. The girls became rather tired during the last third, and even though they were replaced by members of the second team, they failed to accumulate additional points.

After the game, delicious punch was served with wafers, by the Burbank girls.

The victorious six came home with joy in their hearts, and they are preparing now for the next fracas which will be a second game with Anaheim. The teams consisted of:

great deal of enthusiasm was manifested at the meeting Sunday, when it was learned that both of these prominent business men had accepted, and each was unanimously elected to office. Mr. W. E. ATHLETIC PROGRAM AT INTERMEDIATE

Teams Enthusied Over Three Big Field Events in Prospect

Three big athletic events are in sight at Intermediate. One of these is a cross-country run which will be a mile-and-a-half long and start somewhere in the vicinity of Eagle Rock. It will probably describe a circle. A small cup has been offered for the winner of this race by a Los Angeles firm. It will take place March 17, St. Patrick's Day, and leading contestants are likely to be Arthur Cresce, Jack Brown and Elmer Muff.

Still later will come an individual track relay carnival at which all kinds of relay races between classes and between boys and girls, will be run at Intermediate. Prizes will be offered and there will also be a special prize for contestants from other grammar schools of the fifth and sixth grades.

Besides these two there will be an individual all-around track meet at Intermediate for which prizes will be offered.

It is not surprising that interest runs high and that coaches do not have to spur their teams to practice.

GLEN PORTER MAY BUILD STORE

Purchased Site a Year Ago at Corner of Orange and Broadway

Glen Porter, the furniture dealer on West Broadway, purchased a lot adjoining his present site on the corner of Broadway and Orange about a year ago. He is now considering the property of building on that location a store that will accommodate his increasing business and he may decide to make it a two-story structure with apartments upstairs. It has gone far enough for plans to be drawn, but is one of the possibilities of the future.

BRISK BUILDING BUSINESS OUTLOOK

At the cabinet shop of J. J. Burke on San Fernando road good reports were received of building activity in that part of the city, with a prospect that it would be quite as brisk the coming summer as last year. Mr.
Burke has several groups of workmen employed no contracts he is handling and has more in sight. His forecast for the future is much the same as that of J. Roger Bentley, who says frankly that he expects materials to advance rather than to decline and that at no season during the past year has the situation with regard to labor been as favorable as now. The Bentley-Schoeneman Company no longer takes contracts for buildings and is, therefore, in a position to speak disinter-estedly. The company does handle materials and has been able to point out the decline in the price of lumber, rough and clear, the falling off in the price of plaster and lath and the reduction—not quite so marked—in hardware. And it is on this solid foundation of faith that Mr. Bentley bases his advice to prospective builders to let their contracts now if they would reap the best advantages of the market.

NEW SUBDIVISION WILL MEAN MUCH

Charles B. Guthrie, who has an office at each end of town, reports an active demand for lots, small acreage and houses that can be bought on easy terms.

Mr. Guthrie is putting on the market the Peach Orchard tract on Tenth and Grand View in acre and half-acre lots;
and at the corner of Sixth and Highland the ten-acre tract recently purchased from Stephens & Stephens by Mr. Guthrie is being subdivided into half-acre lots and is known as Glen Vista.

The building activity in the Grand View district certainly portends a wondrous growth.

LOTS SOLD FOR HOME BUILDING

Wilkin & Merriken, realtors, with offices at 123 South Central avenue, report the sale of lots for home building quite brisk.

Among their recent operations in this line was the sale of a lot on the south side of Harvard street, between Colorado street and Pacific avenue, to
M. V. Conklin, who is building thereon a handsome bungalow of five large rooms and also a double garage.

S. A. Davis has bought a lot through the Wilkin & Merriken Company on Oak street, west of Columbus avenue, where he is erecting a fine home of the bungalow type.

The foundation is just in for a five-room home for E. C. Warthman on a lot he purchased through Wilkin & Merriken, on Broadway, west of Columbus avenue.

Mr. Clutter has bought a lot through this same firm on the corner of Ivy and Columbus. He, too, will build a home there.

James H. Garnsey is building two bungalows and a double garage on a lot 62x125 at the southwest corner of Vine and Columbus, which he purchased through Wilkin & Merriken.

MRS. K. B. VAUGHN AS DEMONSTRATOR

Seventy-five mothers attended the meeting of the P. T. A. Federation yesterday afternoon, when the feature of the session was a cooking demonstration by Mrs. Kate Brew Vaughn. Sixty girls from the home economics department of the school were also interested guests of the meeting.

Mrs. Vaughn prefaced her demonstration with a talk on the importance of home making as a vocation, pointing out that girls as the future mothers of the nation should fit themselves for the dignity and responsibility of the work of maintaining real homes, without which the nation could not long exist.

Mrs. Vaughn made a cake, explaining points of scientific cake making as she proceeded. She made biscuits in the same way, and also coffee. These foods were then served to the company, and were pronounced delectable refreshments.

Most of the business of the day was dispensed with in order to give the time to the lecture and demonstration of Mrs. Vaughn.

CANDIDATE FOR TRUSTEE U. H. S.

Dr. H. V. Brown, who has consented to be a candidate for trustee of Union High school, comes from that good old middle-western land of corn, Iowa, where he received his education at Drake University, Des Moines. He has been a resident of California since 1907, when he was admitted to practice in this state; and after ten years' residence in Los Angeles he came to Glendale.

An American Legion man, he has been made a member of the executive committee of the Glendale Post No. 127. He served in South Carolina and was ready to go with an organization of field hospitals when the armistice was signed.

Considerable pressure had to be brought to bear to induce him to permit his name to be used, because he has no political ambitions, but he and Mrs. Brown have always been deeply interested in the welfare of the city schools, and because of that interest he was willing to serve, if chosen.

Death of Mrs. Emma Nichols

(Contributed)

The angel of death passed over the home of Mrs. Emma Nichols at 911 East Lomita avenue Wednesday afternoon about 2 o'clock, and when its journey was continued, the frail and tired body of the soul called to its reward was at rest. We who loved her will miss her, but we realize that our loss is her gain. To her, death was only the opening door into that better land where there will be no more sorrow, sickness and death.

Funeral services will be held at the L. G. Scovern chapel, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be at the Grandview cemetery beside the body of Mrs. Nichols' husband.
"How joyful is the thought that lingers When loved ones cross Death's sea, That we when all earth's trials are ended With them shall ever be."

Post and Corps Meetings

The regular monthly business meeting of the N. P. Banks Post, will occur as usual Friday morning, at 10 o'clock. The all-day meeting of post and corps, will be enjoyed Saturday. This announcement is made at the request of corps members to correct any misunderstandings about these two allied events.

J. H. KELLOGG TO BE ENTERTAINED

Will Be Guest of Battle Creek Society of Southern California

The Battle Creek Society of Southern California, a social get-together association of those who have been at one time connected with the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium, will hold its regular semiannual meeting next Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Symphony Hall, formerly called Blanchard Hall, on Hill street, Los Angeles, between Second and Third streets.

Glendale numbers a good many of the members of this society, one of whom is Clarence Kimlin, manager of the Glendale Sanitarium.

The announcement is of special interest because J. H. Kellogg, superintendent of the Battle Creek Sanitarium and known the country over for his health foods, is to be the guest of honor, and will speak. An invitation to attend is extended to all Battle Creekites, whether patients or helpers in the sanitarium.

RECEPTION FOR NEW CHURCH MEMBERS

An informal reception for new members at the First Congregational Church Tuesday evening proved a delightful occasion for the 80 or more guests who were present. Floral decorations of pepper boughs and wild mustard aided in the transformation of the auditorium, which naturally lends itself to such uses into a reception parlor. The evening opened with a short program which included a vocal solo by Mrs. Ruth Unnefeld; Mrs. Calvin Whiting gave two readings, and Mr. Calderwood, pastor of the church, read selections from the work of Sam Walter Foss.

Progressive games, calculated to promote acquaintance, were played, and young ladies of the church served refreshments of coffee and home-made cake. The affair was under the auspices of the social committee, of which Mrs. Yarrick is chairman.

LINDLEY MAKES CHURCH PLANS

Architect Arthur G. Lindley has returned from a trip to Escondido on which he was accompanied by Rev. C. M. Crist. He went to deliver the plans and specifications for a new church to be built there for which the foundations are already in. It will be a $35,000 edifice of classic style with large columns at the entrance porch, and when the Sunday School portion is opened up, will seat 700. It has been arranged for a graded Sunday School, will have a social hall, banquet room, dining room and kitchen and will be equipped with a pipe-organ.

Last Saturday Mr. Lindley was accompanied to Reedley on an inspection trip by Ernest Reed of this city. They left here at 5 a. m. and drove straight through to Reedley, where they spent 2 3/4 hours and then drove back to Glendale, which they reached about 11 p. m. The distance represented 444 miles and for ten miles they ran through fog on the ridge route, a situation they found very difficult and dangerous. Mr. Lindley says he has also delivered plans for a $25,000 Methodist Church at Artesia of mission style, and has completed plans for the remodeling of the Pico Heights Methodist Church in Los Angeles, and similar plans for the Santa Monica Methodist Church, which will make them thoroughly modern and equipped for community service.

NEW HOME OF MR. AND MRS. CORLESS

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Corless are two very happy Glendaleans, for they are just moving into a beautiful home just completed at 235 North Verdugo road. It has been built under the personal supervision of the owner and he feels great contentment in the result. Beautiful hardwood floors feature every room except the kitchen but especially novel and attractive are the doors. It should be explained that the paint throughout is the new soft tint sometimes described as fawn-skin. The doors in their framework are painted to match, but they are centered with a beautiful panel of natural wood. Some of the panels are of genuine mahogany brought from the West Indies and finished in a way to bring out their glowing red. Others are of gunwood scarcely less rich and lovely. The house has been equipped with every modern convenience for comfort, one such being an automatic heater which insures an abundant supply of hot water night or day. Their front and side windows command beautiful views of the Verdugo hills and the rear ones look across their own garden plot (already planted to fruit trees of good variety), to a blossoming field of carnations. With such prospects it is not surprising that they can scarcely wait to be settled. When Mr. Corless was asked if he expected to spend his old age there, he said "no," that he didn't expect to have any old age. His wife had pronounced him young.

They have been residents of Glendale for about eight years and a few months ago sold the home in which they had been living on Isabel street. Mr. Corless is a cousin of the Corless who is famous in connection with the Corless engine.

Nominations Sent to Senate

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—The President sent the following nominations to the Senate today:

To be comptroller of the currency—D. R. Crissinger of Marion, Ohio.

Consul service—Lester Maynard of California, from consul of class four to class three; Willis R. Peck of California, from consul of class five to class four.

DEVELOPMENT IN EAST GLENDALE

A considerable amount of building is going forward on or in the vicinity of Verdugo road, and it is evident that part of the city is coming into its own. The elevation which carries it well above the ordinary frost line, the nearness and beauty of the hills, the double car service to Los Angeles by either Glendale or Eagle Rock, make a chain of arguments in its favor hard to resist. It is certainly a charming situation which justifies all the good things one can say.

Three attractive bungalows on East California are just being completed by Messrs. Peterson and Papp. They are of the popular type, semi-colonial, containing five rooms and breakfast room, and a garage with each house. Mr. Papp will occupy one as a home and Mr. Peterson the other. The middle house will be placed on the market. The two men own the frontage between them and Verdugo road and intend to improve it all with residences as appealing as these.

Mrs. Gleason has just finished an attractive four-room house on East California near Verdugo road.

It is expected that a very handsome residence will soon improve the corner of California and Verdugo road. Two lots on Verdugo and one in the rear fronting on California have been purchased by a resident of Catalina island as the site of a fine home.

MANY WOULD BUY HIS FALSE TEETH

(By International News Service)
LUBEC, Mo., March 10.—The power of the press has been clearly demonstrated by T. J. Hartnett of this town. He advertised his misfit false teeth for sale.

He has received many letters of inquiry about them, including one from Susan Cable of Oakland, Calif., which reads: "Have you sold your teeth yet? Will they fit a lady who wears No. 4 shoe, weighs 109 pounds and has dark complexion?"

"Have you a picture of yourself smiling, showing the teeth? I'd like to see them in action."

JUNIORS PLAN DANCE FOR FRIDAY EVENING

The High school juniors are planning a dance for Friday evening, March 13, in the boys' gymnasium.

Bob White, chairman of the committee on decoration, promises something unusual in the way of a decorative scheme. Dale Woods has charge of the programs, which will be designed in green in honor of St. Patrick's day.

Miss Evelyn Gregg is in charge of the music for the affair and Miss Florence Gower is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Plumage will be seen on the early spring hats as well as graceful wreaths of flowers and large single blossoms.

THIRTEEN FIRES IN ONE DISTRICT

(By International News Service)

LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 10.—Six armed men, who are alleged to be Sinn

Fein incendiaries, were captured here today after a series of fires which were attributed by the police to members of the Irish "arson brigade." Thirteen fires broke out in this district within 45 minutes. Time fuses were found in some of the buildings, proving that the fires were of incendiary origin.

A fireman was accidentally killed at one of the conflagrations.
